

CHOIR MEMBERS ARE PLEASED WITH TABERNACLE

The remodeling of the Ogden Tabernacle is now nearing completion and the choir held its rehearsal last night in a practically new home. About thirty new opera chairs have been placed in the choir loft and aisles have been made on each side and down the center for the convenience of the singers and to separate the parts.

The center aisle separates the alto and soprano; the aisle through the middle of the south side separates the soprano and tenors, and the aisle through the middle of the north side divides the alto and bass.

The seating of the choir, as now arranged is almost ideal and Conductor Ballantyne and the members of the organization are delighted with the changes. It is the intention of Professor Ballantyne, at next Thursday's rehearsal, to appoint individual seats as near as can possibly be done.

Entrances have also been made at the head of the left and right side with handsome art-glass doors and at each side are ante rooms with plenty of hooks for hats and wraps.

The new entrances fill a long felt want, as ingress and egress to the loft can now be made quickly and easily.

The rehearsal time last night was occupied in practicing several of the choruses which probably will be sung at the recital to be given by the choir as a number of the Weber academy lecture course. Among them were "By Babylon's Wave," "Gounod," "The Soldier's Chorus," "Woe," "Thou, Sweet Music," "Edgar," and "Viva," "The Rosary."

Nearly every seat was occupied and the choir members are taking an interest in the work that presages the most successful season in the choir's history and Conductor Ballantyne is enthusiastic over the prospects of presenting some exceptionally excellent work.

CHARITY BALL TONIGHT.

Preparations for the Charity Ball, the season's premier social event, are complete, and when the Grand March is played about 9:30 p. m. this evening, it is expected that there will be seen in the line the largest number of prominent people that have ever attended a similar event in the city.

That these expectations are warranted by the ladies of the Martha society is conceded by the wide interest that is being taken in the affair both locally and in other cities in the state.

In addition to the large number of citizens prominent locally, Governor William Spry, with his staff and a number of other state officials have signified their intention to be present.

The details for the Ball have all been well taken care of and the large new Colonial hall has been decorated

THEATERS

AT ORPHEUM With a bill that starts out well, improves as it goes along and closes with a little playlet that makes everyone feel good all over, the Pantages played to three enthusiastic audiences yesterday and last night. The program this week is without question the most entertaining one that has been witnessed in months.

Starting in the headline act, "A Bit of Old Ireland" is Charlie Reilly, an Irish tenor of the Chauncey Olcott type and a pupil of Alexander Helmenan. His singing of the old Irish ballad, "Mother Machree," which closed the act, is masterly and touches every heart. The duet, "I Love You," which he sings with Mat-the Townsend, was both acted and sung in a most delightful manner. Miss Townsend is a charming actress and has a soprano voice surprisingly strong, with a bell-like sweetness of tone. Her solo, "Come Back to Erin" completely won all who heard her.

The playlet concerns a young Irishman who leaves home and sweetheart to go to America and returns again to tell her the "old, old story" as only the Irish can tell it.

Mr. Reilly plays the Hon. Jerry O'Grady; Robert Lawler, Mr. O'Grady's father; and Miss Townsend, Nora O'Malley. Three other attractive girls who also sing well, complete the cast.

The "Drummer and the Girl" is a pleasing sketch and is well played by Ralph E. Cummings & Co.

The Connolly Sisters are one big bunch of fun. One is pretty and graceful and the other doesn't need to be, as here ability as a comedienne would make the most dignified lapse from pose. They have good voices and clever songs and "put them over" in a way that is somewhat out of the ordinary.

Allen & Lewis, booked as "fellows of merry mirth," have a line of songs and patter that is a panacea for weariness. They also do some clever step dancing.

Hathaway and Mack, who open the program, are graceful dancers, and present some high class fancy dancing. Both have excellent voices and Mr. Hathaway sings several popular ballads in fine style while Miss Mack is featured in some special dancing numbers in costume.

POULTRY RAISERS PLAN BIG SHOWS

Salt Lake, Nov. 14.—Poultry raisers of Utah declare that at the big state show, to be held in Logan, January 26 to 31, 1914, they will have the biggest premium list in the existence of their organization, and the Salt Lake association has determined to better its own record in this respect for the show to be held here January 12 to 17, 1914.

Last night the Utah Poultry association, the local organization, held a meeting in the Commercial Club building, and decided to use $500 which it has in the treasury for the purchase of seventy-five Empire coops for display purposes. It was stated at the meeting last night that the Ogden association would also purchase a similar number of these coops and that for any poultry show to be held in the state both associations would permit the use of these coops to exhibitors making 150 in all, so that the displays would be uniformly issued. No exhibitor it was stipulated, shall be permitted to supply his own coops, except they be of this particular kind.

For the Salt Lake show, it was decided, a new feature would be added in the form of an egg exhibit. The eggs will be divided off into sections by breeds and will be shown in dozen lots. Twelve silver cups and other prizes have been collected for the Salt Lake show, and subscriptions to poultry publications will form a part of the premium list. An effort will be made to enlarge the prize offerings to an extent heretofore unknown.

The shows next year will all be conducted on the score-card plan, there being no intention to institute comparisons between exhibits in any other way. Daniel Duncan, a local man, is to be adjudicator. The Ogden show will be held between that in Salt Lake and the roundup state show at Logan.

LOOK! LOOK! Don't fail to see it. The greatest fair of the season will commence on November 20. Come early and secure your Xmas present cheap. Vote for the most popular lady at the Eighth ward, one block east of Washington avenue on 7th street.—(Advertisement.)

"There have been several skeletons of mammoths uncovered in this re-

Dr. J. W. Shereschewsky of Washington, D. C., said the great increase in deaths among infants during summer months can be explained by three hypotheses only. The infants are killed:
